Victoria Press has been negotiating since Oct. 22 with the Council of Unions, which bargains for the International Typographical Union (ITU), Printing Pressmen's Union (PPU), Mailers, Stereotypers and The Newspaper Guild

The 30 pressmen have served strike notice and will be free to strike at midnight Friday when their contract, along with those of the other three craft unions, expires. The Guild contract expires Jan. 31, 1974.

Negotiations broke off Tuesday with the company pre-senting a package proposal and the council insisting that discussion of other matters be put aside until the question of job security in the face of technological change is settled. Further talks are scheduled for Friday.

Under the company's package proposals, Underhill said, the 160 Guild members in the editorial, advertising and business office were offered a 9.5 per cent salary increase as of Feb. 1 next year, when their present contract expires, nd a further 8.48 per cent in

Mechanical unions were offered 59 cents an hour as of Dec. 1, a further 30 cents a year later and another 29 cents June 1, 1975. This would bring a journeyman printer to $7.40 an hour within

The Problem of Milk

Despite a five-cent federal subsidy to keep provincial milk prices down the B.C. Dairy industry has been hanging by a thread for several months. Farmers complain their return is less than the cost of production because of high imported feed prices. They have been importuning the provincial government for either a subsidy or a fivecent price increase — the latter would more than nullify a recent four-cent cutback in retail milk prices resulting from the federal subsidy

With a threatened milk strike looming Saturday the government reacted -- in true gun-to-the-head style — promisi and angry dairy-men a subsidy of at least $2 per hundredweight, and in future guaranteeing that farmers' income will be directly tied to production costs.

The industry's frustration is understandable. With a paucity of pasture land in B.C. and the need to import feed from the prairies and neighboring states the provincial dairy industry has been hardpressed to keep up with rising demand as population increased. Perhaps the ultimate answer is wholesale milk importations from the Prairie provinces.

Meanwhile, the so-called milk strike has been averted but at what cost? Savings from the five-cent federal subsidy have been wiped out and Agriculture Minister David Stupich warned that the price of milk could go up as much as nine cents a quart in the next few months. British Columbians already pay among the highest milk prices in North America. Forecasted increases would drive the staple out of the reach of many

The dairyman's plight is nobody's fault. High cost imported feed, coupled with lack of supply for a burgeoning population, have brought about the current critical situation. A government-dairyman compromise was inevitable to ensure farmers a reasonable profit and consumers a product they could afford. But while the government has generously aided and abetted the dairymen, it has left the consumer out in the cold. What happened to this government's commitment to the people? Here we see a healthy subsidy going to an industry while the minister of agriculture blandly says the consumer may have to pay as much as 25 per cent more for his milk. That's the kind of socialism industry loves and consumers hate.

A Softer Hand on the Cradle?

The bloodless Greek coup last weekend has not ended the long night of the generals in the cradle of democracy. There were, however, some hopeful signs that the new president, Lieutenant-General Phaedon Gyzikis, and the strong man behind the scenes Brigadier-General Dimitrios Ioannides, will ease up on a population which spent more than six and one-half years under the iron grip of George Papadopoulis.

An all-civilian cabinet has been installed by the new generals, 250 student demonstrators have been released from confinement and apparently newspapers are no longer subject to government censorship: The new military regime has also purged the armed forces of pro-Papadopoulis elements. But these gestures are simply the act of a new government wiping the slate clean. Greece is still a long way from democracy and the restitution of its constitutional monarchy.

Fear of free elections which Mr. Papadopoulis promised in 1974 is said to have triggered the coup.

Other sources are quoted as saying the new regime opposed political liberalization, often promised but never acted upon by the former regime. If the new government has a dark side, its initial edicts on taking power show more enlightenment than its predecessors.

The ultimate test for the generals is whether they will allow the Greeks to decide their own future through free elections. If the generals demur they too will become the oppressors in less time than it takes to say Papadopoulis.

Over the Hill

The Finlayson St. extension on the border of Saanich and Victoria was begun as a good idea - that is, to provide a needed east-west thoroughfare. It has now been abandoned by Victoria, despite expenditure of a third of a million dollars, in pursuit of another good idea — to preserve a pleasant residential area from encroachment by through traffic.

Both concepts had merit, and still do, but the idea of environmental preservation has become more important in the years since the street project was introduced. The latest decision leaves both municipalities with a road-to-nowhere, inasmuch as there are bottle-necks at each end. The notorious Blanshard St. extension was another somewhat similar case — although it involved repudiation of what the city and Saanich believed to be a financial understanding with the provincial government. The end result was the same - a major throughfare that connected up with no other artery.

The Finlayson situation illustrates the need for adequate regional planning rather than isolated area planning where traffic is concerned, and in this instance the long-term, overall view was not achieved before considerable money had been spent.

Meanwhile, Victoria has a problem: what to do with a fine. wide, paved roadway curving up over the hill by the Cedar Hill golf course and disappearing into the sunset. Soapbox derbies, maybe?

JAMES H. GRAY

A Matter of Viewpoint

CALGARY — Despite the almost friendly reaction of oil industry spokesmen to Prime Minister Trudeau's energy speech, the ultimate effect can only be to add to western disenchantment. It will, that is, if his up-coming voluntary restraints and national energy policy reflect the thinking of that speech.

What Mr. Trudeau needs most at the moment is a new speech-writer who, if he has no better knowledge of the country and its people than Mr. Trudeau, will stop putting hyperbolic nonsense in the prime minister's mouth.

Mr. Trudeau's theme was the "national" energy crisis, fossil fuels division, which he tried to water down. Time and again he identified it as a "Canadian' and a "national" problem. He appealed to Canadians to share supplies and reduce consumption

Regional Problem

The problem, of course, is strictly regional and not national at all. It is a theme which has no relevance for people living west of Ottawa. If a shortage does develop in Ontario this winter the blame will lie with the oil companies. More than adequate supplies and transportation facilities have been available to them throughout the year to enable them to fill all the needs of the people of Ontario. If they fail to do so, it is mismanagement on their part.

West of Ontario, which was still a part of our prime minister's "Canadian" audience at last count, there is no energy crisis of any kind. So what is the point of a voluntary rationing system for this half of the nation?

If all the prairie people put their cars. on blocks for the winter, stopped heating their curling rink snake-rooms and gave up dousing themselves with petroleumbased deodorants it would add not an erg gy to Quebec's shortage

The fuel oil and gasoline emergency, if one develops in Quebec, can be blamed squarely on the international oil companies who have a near refining monopoly east of Ottawa. The Yom Kippur war did not break out until the first week of October. By then the companies should have completed their winter supply planning.

The world oil industry does not around for crude supplies. Tanker flows and refinery runs are planned months in advance. In fact the major companies for years have operated what amounts to shuttle services between their foreign loading racks and their Canadian refineries. What were they doing before Yom Kippur, when there were ample supplies of crude oil available for their eastern Canadian needs?

So the people Mr. Trudeau should have been addressing were not his fellow Canadians but the major oil companies.

PRIME MINISTER TRUDEAU . . . who wrote the speech?

And the time for talking was the second week in October.

The egregious mis-statements in the speech can only be blamed on the prime ninister's speech writers. Mr. Trudeau was made to say that until recently offshore oil was so cheap it could have been sold in Edmonton for less than the price charged for, Canadian oil produced 40 miles away. The statement is just plain silly on every count. The claim that foreign oil is much cheaper than Canadian oil is an assiduously cultivated major oil company

At the nadir of world oil prices, which occurred with the glut that developed after the Suez war of 1956, Alberta oil was backed out of Puget Sound refineries, which had been built to process it, by foreign crude. But it was not lower prices for foreign crude that backed it out. It was the compelling need of the major companies to find places in which to put their surplus foreign production on which they earned use production prof-

The name of that game was "commercial preference" and it was spelled out in detail during the Borden Commission hearings of 1958-59. Commercial preference, not lower prices, was behind the successful campaign of the major companies to keep Canadian crude out of Montreal in 1959-60. Now the need has gone for eastern refineries as vehicles with which the international companies can extract maximum profits from their own-produced crude. So the opposition to the Montreal pipeline has gone with it and Alberta crude is being willingly accepted by tanker from Vancouver

No Bonus

Mr. Trudeau was also made to say that Canadian consumers have bonused Alberta producers by $500 million because the national oil policy prevented the Ottawa-West market from using cheap foreign crude. The fact is that for most of the last decade the prices paid for Alberta crude have been based on the theoretical laid-down price in Toronto of Venezuela crude. "Theoretical" because over most of the year foreign crude was not physically available in

The Ontario refineries have had the advantage of foreign crude prices over all these years. If they have not passed the advantage on to Ontario consumers it cannot be blamed on Alberta crude oil

The effect of the Venezuela-based price in Toronto has been to provide United States refineries with whopping bargains over the years. They have been able to buy Canadian crude oil on the Toronto formula at prices ranging from 25 to 45 cents below prevailing U.S. crude prices.

The Toronto-based price system served the interests of the major companies in the U.S. who got cheap crude. It penalized the province of Alberta whose royalty income was based upon it, even for the oil that was going to the U.S. It reduced the profits of the major companies which produced the oil in Alberta. and on which Ottawa collects its corporation taxes. But somehow or other, through the magic of Mr. Trudeau's speech writers, it all comes out as a $500-million benefit Canadian consumers have been conferring upon the Alberta oil

Watt Shortage?

With the current energy crisis upperin fact disgusted, to learn that our local Chamber of Commerce is going ahead with their annual outdoor Christmas lighting competition. Surely they could set a better example by urging all local citizens, in fact all Capadians, to refrain from any form of outdoor lighting this year. I for one feel this is no great sacrifice compared to what we may have to face in the future if we don't all pull our weight in reserving as much as possible this most valuable of our resources. Our Prime Minister is calling for voluntary restraints and somebody has to start somewhere.-Mrs. Doris M. Thorne, 1776 Rockland Avenue.

Crux for Survival

Lately we are not hearing so much from the world's top brains about the evils of the population explosion - have they given up because nobody listens? about the consequences of escalation of social aid programs, why were they not more specific? The tremendous increase in child allowances; coupled to the present government's wishy-washy immigration policy, bodes ill for this country.

True, over-population is a global problem which requires a viable global government to remedy; but because we seem further away now from achieving such a government than when the old League of Nations was conceived, our national governments must act. The energy shortage is but the first sharp proof that we are breeding ourselves out of a place at the table - other proofs even more dire may follow. Until we adopt some more efficient umbrellatype social assistance such as the negative income tax child allowances should be increased in step with the cost of living, but with some strings attached: no child allowance for the third or subse quent natural-born child in any family born after ten months hence!

A few thousand years ago the Israelite people thought that God told them to "multiply and inherit the earth." It is partly because our religious leaders have failed to "lead" that we are all still suffering from the effects of this tribal slogan today - directly in the Middle East, and almost as directly globally.

With the present Liberal government oriented toward Roman Catholic Quebec and the prime minister and foreign affairs minister both representing constituencies with the highest percentage of Jewish voters in the country, there seems little hope of intelligent changes in policy. This points to the crux for survival under a democratic system of government. How can we attain leadership that will govern in the best interests of the country, rather than in the interest of getting re-elected? - I. M. Weffar,

JAMES RESTON

But It Cannot Be Avoided

WASHINGTON - In the 10 weeks since he became the 56th Secretary of State of the United States, Henry Kissinger has covered more miles, visited more countries, answered more questions, and probably consumed more food and proposed more toasts than any of his predecessors since John Foster Dulles.

Already in these 10 weeks, he has gone through one Middle East war, a scary world-wide military alert against the Soviets, innumerable sessions with other foreign ministers at the United Nations, and endless meetings with members of Congress, his new ,colleagues in the State Department, and his skeptical watchdogs of the press.

It has been an impressive performance, but it's terrible on the nerves, the mind and the waistline, and, unless somebody invents the 48-hour day, you have to wonder how long he can sustain this punishing pace.

An 'Outsider'

Henry Kissinger didn't get where he is today because he was a great personality, or traveller, or insider, but precise ly because he was an outsider who had time to think and was in touch with other loners who were reflecting on the basic purposes and vital interests of the na-

Now he is eaught up in a tangle of problems that require more time than he has and also require, as he says, at least "a modicum of confidence between the public and the responsible officials." And he is appealing, almost pleading, to the press and the public to give him a chance to work things out.

It is a fair enough request, but it is not going to be easy, for he has been saying some things lately that require more than a "modicum of confidence." For example, he said at a recent news conference that U.S. policy in the Middle East would not be influenced by the Arab oil embargo, but the fact is that American policy is clearly being influenced at every corner gas station, and Kissinger is now leaning heavily on the Israelis in private to hurry up the negotiations and make substantial concessions to the Arabs to lift the oil embargo and get a general Middle East settlement.

Also, Kissinger has been warning the Arab states publicly but gently that the United States would have to consider fuel shortage in the "counter-measures" if the Arabs continue their economic warfare, but again the fact is that Washington has few counter-measures and cannot mount an effective counter-embargo against the Arab states without the co-operation of all the other industrial nations, which won't go along.

Meanwhile, Kissinger is refusing to explain, as he promised to do, what the Soviet Union threatened during the Middle East crisis that justified putting U.S. forces all over the world on "alert." Did Brezhnev say he "might" or that he would" send Soviet airborne troops into the Middle East? Did Brezhnev actually send atomic weapons into Egypt? Kissinger says he has no "confirmed" evidence that this was the case. He is merely asking for people to trust him. Nevertheless, though Kissinger is appealing for "confidence" in an administration that has little confidence, he has earned in his Peking and Moscow missions an opportunity to try to work out fuel shortage in the United States depends on the negotiations for a peace. settlement in the Middle East, and this in turn depends probably more than it should on the integrity, judgment, and negotiating skill of Secretary Kissinger. You can cut your speed to 50 miles an hour and knock back your heat to 68. degrees at home - what a sacrifice! but unless Kissinger gets the Arab-Israeli talks going in a hurry and per-suades both sides that an accommodation is better than more military wars and an expanding economic war, the non-Communist industrial nations of the United States, Western Europe and Japan will quickly be up against an economic recession. Maybe this is what Moscow wants, Having failed to keep up with the computer revolution in the advanced industrial nations, the Soviets could be using their political influence in the Middle East to cut down production in the West and in Japan. But we won't know that until the negotiations between the Arabs and the Israelis get going, and here Kissinger's role is both critical and

HENRY KISSINGER . . . asking for trust

Worldwide Issues

'If one looks at history," he told the press the other day, "and sees how often it has happened that wars have been produced by the rivalries of client states, without a full consideration of the worldwide issues . . . the over-riding need of finding a solution to the problems of world-wide nuclear war becomes overwhelming . . . this is the central question of our period, and it is a problem that will have to be solved either by this group of officials or by their successors. But it cannot be avoided."

It has been a long time in this capital since any secretary of state has dealt with so many dangerous and ambiguous questions under such difficult circumstances at home and abroad, and if the energy crisis is to be eased this winter or the Middle East is to reach some kind of understanding, Kissinger is probably the main hope. But he needs some public support and he needs some rest.

was the only thing that saved

In Nixon's own view, what saved his career was his ability to demonstrate to the satisfaction of his audience that the fund raised by his ad-mirers had been expended, as intended, only to defray his political expenses. Had it been used as a supplementary salary, a bonus to his income, he was through - and he knew it. But it had not been used for personal expenses.

"I am sure that you have read the charge, and you have heard it, that I, Senator Nixon, took $18,000 from a group of my supporters. Now, was that wrong?...It isn't a question of whether it was legal or illegal, that isn't enough. The question is, was it morally wrong — if any of that $18,000 went to Senator Nixon for my personal use. I say it was morally wrong if it was secretly given and secret-ly handled. And I say that it was morally wrong if any o the contributors get special favors for the contributions that they made."

This Nixon ethic has been too strict for at least three Canadian Prime Ministers. The case histories—all a matter of public record, though not hitherto of public interest

Larkin rounded up a number of wealthy Liberals to belp him pay for the renovation of/Mackenzie King's residence in Ottawa, as well as contributing pictures, china silver and furniture. In 1922 Mackenzie King made Larkin Canada's High Commissioner in London. Nor was that the end of it. "Some years later," writes biographer Dawson with uncharacteristic gueness as to dates, "a group of friends, again headed by Larkin, presented the Prime with $225,000. Mackenzie King pleaded with Louis 3. 3t. Laurent to stay in politics and replace him as prime minister and leader of the Liberal party. St. Laurent demurred. "The fact of the matter," writes his biogra-pher Dale C. Thomson, "was that he could not afford to remain in public life ... Friends had offered to help him financially, but he was very reluctant to accept such assistance, because it might appear to imply some sort of obligation towards the donors ... Mackenzie King had a

That hurdle cleared, St. Laurent felt free to accept a gift of money from what biographer Thomson calls "a group of wealthy admirers, who had joined together to wipe out his pre-war losses, and to strengthen his financial position in a way that left him Case History No. 3. In 1948,

Lester B. Pearson, offered a post in the cabinet by Louis to accept because of money it might cost him. Walter Gordon, writes his bi-ographer Denis Smith, "undertook at once to raise the funds for a modest annuity which would temper this source of hesitation."

By accepting this "modest annuity" — we do not know how modest — Pearson clearly violated the spirit of the instruction which as prime minister he later issued to his cabinet colleagues to place themselves in a poobligation to any person who might benefit from special consideration or favor on their part." In 1953 Pearson offered Gordon the job of ambassador to the United States

Richard Nixon in his mem-oirs devotes no fewer than 56 pages to what he calls "The Fund"; Lester Pearson in his memoirs offers not a word. It was nothing short of embarrassing to watch Ed Smith, beaming MLA from North Peace River, actually skip around the convention floor followed by young sup-porters dressed in hillbilly garb and singing: "We are the gopher girls, we only go for Ed."

The socialist government, according to gospel, is nothing short of an insidious, immoral horde, bent on destroying freedom and taking possession of the province.

As for the Social Credit defeat last year, the speakers humbly admitted it was deserved — not because of any shortcomings in policy or philosophy but simply and conveniently because the party had complacent and alowed its membership to drop. Once again the outstanding exception was Bill Bennett, who made it plain in his well-worded speeches that he was not enamoured with the old

The is such a prepon-derance of Soviet naval, air and ground forces in the area that it would be a natural choice if the Russians ever wished to test the resolve of the Western alliance by any form of limited aggression. But the more likely danger to Norwegian eyes is of some incident in this sparsely populated region which they would be hard pressed to deal with themselves but which they would be reluctant to raise to the status of a serious East-West clash by calling in allied help. Oil drilling could pro-vide either the occasion or the pretext for such an incident.

The position at the moment is that Norway does not permit oil drilling off its shores above the 62nd parallel. But testing farther north has al-ready begun. The geological structure of the area is being examined and the difficulties of getting the oil ashore has been discussed. Within a few months (precise estimates of the timing vary) in Oslo there will be in effect a Norwegian White Paper on the prospects. But will that really be possi-ble? With the rest of Western Europe panting for oil will one small nation be able to time the use of what are thought to be rich oilfields just to suit its own conve-nience? Will the pressures not be too great for a country that is outside the EEC but dependent in many respects on the good will of the Community?

For the moment, it is true.

exclusion from the EEC has not damaged Norway as much as many people had expected. Like other countries outside the Community she is enjoying an export-led boom as a result of the general expansion in European trade. There is not quite the same satisfaction with the trade agreement with the EEC among the Norwegian business community as I found a couple of months ago among bankers and businessmen in Sweden. This may be partly because the agreement takes less account of Norway's special interest, but even more because Norway does not have the large international companies that Sweden does. Such a company will happily avoid the tariff wall and other obstacles to trade by setting up operations within the EEC.

In the longer term, though, chological effects of being excluded, about not being on the European network of companies, about an inability to in-fluence EEC policy matters which may be critical to Norway, such as shipping policy. Yet as one peers into the fu-ture it looks as if the fate of the Norwegian economy will be more affected by what happens to Norway's oil than by whether she is inside or outside the EEC.

TRADERS OFFERS $14 FOR MORE GUARANTY

TORONTO (CP) — Traders Group Ltd. said today it plans to offer $14 a share for an additional 340,000 shares of Guaranty Trust Co. of Canada.

Traders now owns 1,882,309 shares of Guaranty and the acquisition will bring its holdings to half of the outstanding capital stock.

The offer will be increased by 14 cents for shares deposited by Dec. 21, the expiry date, to compensate for the dividend to be paid Jan. 15, the company said.

The offer is also conditional on 340,000 shares being deposited. Traders said if may take up all shares or less than all offered but not less than 340,000.

BCR Adds Car Plea

VANCOUVER (CP) British Columbia Railway spokesman said Wednesday BCR will support a call from lumber manufacturers for a bigger share of Canada's boxcars to be allocated to the provincially-owned railway.

Frank Oberle (PC-Prince George - Peace River) said last week a year-long shortage of cars now is causing a loss of $3 million a week to the central and northern Interior lumber industry.

A lumber industry spokes-man in Williams Lake, said Tuesday that less than 25 per cent of the cars required were being received and inventory in Cariboo lumber mills had risen by 30 per cent in the past six weeks.

Roy Dawson, BCR sales manager, said Canadian Na-tional Railways and CP Rail take the view that "we get what they have left over.

Meeting Plans Cancelled

Greater Victoria school board has cancelled plans to hold public meetings in four high schools in early Decation Minister Eileen Dailly.

Board chairman Peter Bunn said today a special commit-tee arranging the meetings decided they should be de-layed until mid-January.

The meetings had been scheduled for Dec. 4 and 6 at Esquimalt, Reynolds, Oak Bay and Victoria senior secondary schools. The committee has written Dailly saying it feels four public meetings held now would not get a representative sampling of the opinion of people in Greater Victoria School District.

Dailly asked every district to hold meetings in its high schools before Dec. 10 to get opinions of parents, students and teachers about education

A summary of these opinlons will be sent to John Bremer, provincial commissioner of education.

Country Life Needs Lift

Times Staff

The good country life in Victoria's bedroom communi-ties of Colwood, Langford and Metchosin is not good enough and must be supplemented by some basic social services.

Residents feel social services should be added or expanded to meet the needs of an area suffering through growing pains brought on by a 20 per cent increase in population over the past five years, according to a survey and study completed by the Community Council of Greater Victoria.

Residents of the three areas agreed on the need for an extended care and out-patient

Mine Trial Hits Snag

A trial involving Jordan River Mines Ltd. on four charges of violating fisheries and pollution regulations ran into a snag Wednesday.

The hearing ended in stale-mate with one of the counts being withdrawn and Judge William Ostler reserving judgment until today on the other three following a no-evidence motion by defence lawyer Irwin Nathanson.

Nathanson argued the charges were "duplicitious" meaning they referred to two separate incidents which the Crown had failed to show were part of a "continuous transaction."

Ostler said he needed time

to rule on this argument.

At the start prosecutor Robert Hutchison said the trial represented the first time in B.C. court history that federal and provincial charges had been contained in the same information.

Open Space Centre Passes Inspection

Open Space arts centre reopened today after fire inspectors approved repairs done to meet safety requirements for public use of the building, said director Gene Miller.

Miller said fire inspector Lt. Mike Heppel checked the building Wednesday and found faults in only three minor jobs. Those repairs were finished today.

The top two floors of the converted warehouse at 510 Fort as closed Nov. 1 when a number of violations of the Fire Marshal's Office were discovered.

"I hope the public floods the place," said Miller, adding the Open Space Craft Market, on the lower floor, has suffered badly since the top floors closed.

The lower shops were not closed Nov. 1, he said.

The "Contemp-Arts Festival" will continue tonight, said Miller, with a concert of "contemporary serious music" by members of the Vancouver Symphony.

A Christmas craft fair and a photograph and drawing exhibition will also continue, he said.

Arrangements for Franklin to accompany Simon into Vic toria General were made by the doctor's nurse. Father stayed overnight Tuesday, was there to see Simon off to surgery early Wednesday and was there when Simon came back.

The hospital isn't really geared to handle parents, says Franklin. (He had to scrounge a towel and chair.) But the nurses he spoke to thought the idea a good one.

The hospital believes strongly in family unity, says Mrs.

Many parents can't accompany a child because father has to work and mother cares for the rest of the family.

Dr. A. C. Pickles, executive director at Jubilee, said today that a regional study recommends establishing a single modern pediatrics unit. Making room for parents would certainly have to be part of such a unit, he suggested.

Both hospitals have liberal and flexible visiting hours

Scouts: Never Before Have So Many Looked

The place was crawling with them — scouts that is — at Tuesday's Western Canada Junior Hockey League game at Memorial. They were in the stands, in the ooffee shop and in the music box at the East side of the building. General manager Chuck Catto of the St. Louis Blues, out West on a fact-finding trip, even made the all-star selection of Denis Sobchuk, the amateur millionaire from Regina, as the best Sobchuk, it is reported, has signed a million-dollar pact as a pro with the new Cincinnati team of the NHL, but is playing out his final year as a junior. And if he didn't appear to be going all out, who could blame him. Still, he got five points. Nobody else got more.

So all the scouts present — there were 11 — got to see him and others who aspire to receive equal treatment.

And in numbers, that totals out, for just 10 Cougar home games, to three times as many scouts as appeared here all of last year. That's the attention kids demand, and are getting,

And two in particular who must be pleased with their efforts to date, were there. Namely Don Graham of Atlanta and Alex Davidson of Philadelphia. Graham was checking with his western "bird-dogs" to see what Atlanta might come with his western "Dird-dogs" to see what Atlanta might come up with in the draft, and also admitting to being particularly pleased with the Flames last year, and to date this season.

"It was just at the end, we faltered," he said of the surprising Flames' bid for a playoff berth last year in their inaugural season; and he gave the credit to "The Boomer," coach Bernard Geoffrion. "He's been great for hockey down there," said Graham. "Everybody in town seems to know him".

All Hail The Boomer

"We had an average attendance of 12,300 last year." he added of the amazing way in which the Flames were accepted. "This season we have 11,800 season ticket holders, we can seat 15,141, next year will be adding some 1,500 seats to the Omni, and when that's completed we should be able to accommodate about 17,000."

"We're off to a good start," he said of the Flames who at last look were only three points behind leading Philadelphia, but had been surprised that same night by dropping a 4-2 decision to New York Islanders.

"I just had a feeling we might lose that one," he said.

But apparently The Boomer has taken the town by storm and the TV outlets, too. He does commercials for an auto agency, models the latest fashions for a leading men's apparel shop, and "just almost never turns down an appearance at a banquet or important function."

He is also selling hockey which he was hired to do, and his fractured English must be a treat for reporters. "No, he hasn't acquired a southern accent," quipped Graham.

Which is a reminder for a Geoffrion story out of Toronto. It seems when he was addressing the Prudential sports celebriated by the control of the c rity dinner, someone in the audience snickered as he was groping for words in his broken English. Geoffrion fired right back: "If you're so smart bow some back: "If you're so smart, how come you can't speak French?" He got the biggest ovation of the night.

Special File on 17s, 18s

On this night the Flyers had their No. 1 man in town too. Alex Davidson (not the Davidson who scouted Russia, please; that was Bob, his brother) had absolutely nothing to be ashamed of either. As Chief scout for the Flyers since their beginning, he had played an integral part in putting together a club which is currently No. 1 in the West and boasts such young established stars as Bobby Clarke, Bob Kelly, Dave Schultz, Don Saleski, Bill Barber, Tom Bladon, and others. He had done his homework well and was still doing it - per

If the scouts were comparing notes, they weren't doing it out loud even if they were sitting together; because this is an important part of junior hockey. Each one looks for a different attribute in a player outside of the basics — skating, stickhandling and hockey sense. And it's so important too to even scout the pros. Davidson was saying. "That's what Marcel Pelletier, director of player personnel, for the Flyers is doing," he explained of the duties of the former Cougar goalkeeper. "He covers teams we play next and all the arm goalkeeper. "He covers teams we play next, and all the pro

Meanwhile, Catto was doing his business with two of his regulars. Alex Barilko and Tom Hookaway were charting 19-year-olds (for the draft), and Catto was making notes on the 17- and 18-year-olds. Who knows if the draft age will drop or there will be a player war? They would have a file on every-

So, if any youngster showed anything at all Tuesday, it was recorded, believe it. And the same story is repeated nightly at every jumior game across the country.

As one scout said: We try not to overlook anybody. At today's prices we can't afford to." Out on the ice later, Sobchuk was honored as the game's best player. For a million-dollar junior, what else?

The Goalie Is a Quick Fox

The first thing a goalie has to learn is to skate, just as well as forwards and defencemen. His reflexes must be faster than those of his clubmates and he must be strong enough to carry those pads for 60 minutes.

He must be able to stand criticism from fans for losing when the defeats were not his fault. It may appear that he lost a game because the puck got by him, but perhaps a clobmate was out of position and the poor goalie didn't have a

The illustration shows the best stance for a goalie. Notice his glove hand is slightly extended, ready to grap the puck, and at the same time it's partially screening the goal mouth. His legs are slightly apart, but only far enough to give him good balance. The stick blade is resting flat on the ice and his skates are pointing outward at a slight angle, enabling him to move quickly to either side.

His body is slightly crouched so his eyes are a bit closer to the ice surface. In this position, he could be tough to beat. annonikummunummunummunummunumminumi

Soccer Dominance Is on the Decline

Times News Services English dominance of the UEFA Cup soccer competition was on the decline after firstleg, third-round matches Wednesday.

Tottenham Hotspur, winner of the inaugural competition two years ago and semifinalist last season, brought back a creditable 1-1 draw from their trip to the Soviet Union to meet Dynami Tbilisi.

But Ipswich Town and Leeds United could gain only 1-0 home victories against FC Twente Enschede of Holland and Victoria Setubal of Pornot be hig enough to prevent Ipswich, conqueror of Real Madrid (Spain) and Lazio (Italy) in the previous two rounds, had to wait until the 80th minute before Trevor Whymark scored the only goal against Enschede.

Top A.L. Rookie Working on Lefties

Times News Services
Al Bumbry appreciates his selection as the American League's rookie of the year for 1973, but he's already working to improve himself for next season.

"It's a motivation point for me to do better," Bumbry said of the award Wednesday said of the award wednesday in a telephone interview from Venezuela, where he is playing winter baseball for La Guaira Sharks, "Once I do well, I want to do better."
The speedy outfielder, a left-handed batter, hit .337 last season while playing mostly against right-handed pitchers, and stole 23 bases. He hopes by next year the platooring will be dropped.

"Down here, I'm concentrating on left-handers," he said. "and if I respond, maybe I'll play more against them next year. So far, I'm 5-for-10 or 6-for-11, so it hasn't, worked out too bad. But worked out too bad. But there's not that many in the league."

Bumbry, 26, was a runaway winner in the voting. He finished with 13½ points to three for runner-up infielder Pedro Garcia of Milwaukee Brewers.

Pitcher George Medich of
New York Yankees, pitcher
Steve Busby of Kansas City
Royals, and Milwaukee catcher
Darrell Porter each had two points. Coggins, another speedy outfielder, had 11/2.

Bert Campaneris of Oak-land Athletics, meanwhile, be-lieves he should have been named the World Series baseball hero rather than team-mate Reggie Jackson.

mate Reggie Jackson.

"I played seven good games; I expected to win it," said Campaneris who hit 258 in the series and scored six runs. "Most of my teammates told me I would win it, so it was the biggest disappointment of my life."

Asked whether Jackson has ever discussed the issue with him, Campaneris said: "No, he never said anything to me about it."

Datsun's new luxury number.

For 1974 our top-of-the line Datsun is equipped with a bigger overhead cam engine, and a 4-speed standard or optional 3-speed automatic transmission.

New interior comfort:

Fully reclining front bucket seats feature cloth inserts in sedan models for smart appearance and cool comfort in warm weather driving. For your convenience, we've added a clock to our dash. A new 610 option this year: Datsun's own air conditioning units.

New safety:

We've added an energy-absorbing bumper system to the 610's package of standard safety equipment that already includes power-assisted front disc brakes, independent rear suspension for better handling, tough unit body construction and fully retractable belts. Improved emission controls make the new 610 safer for the environment too. New continuous or intermittent operation windshield wipers improve rainy weather visibility.

New Datsun economy:

The 610's overhead cam engine was designed by the same team that enabled Datsun to claim better fuel economy than any other car sold in the United States, according to U.S. Government 1973 Environmental Protection Agency tests. Datsun saves.

Test drive a 610, Datsun's new luxury number. It comes as a 4-door sedan, a hardtop and a 5-door wagon.

Each year, we publish advertisements reporting to the Canadian public our financial and operating results for the year. As Canada's largest bank, with a business affecting the lives of so many people—including our millions of customers, more than 31,000 shareholders, and almost 28,000 staff—we feel such a report is our obligation.

Because we're in the money business, in Canada and abroad, our report has to be expressed in dollar figures. And because we're North America's fourth largest bank, in terms of deposits, these dollar figures are huge. So huge that the meaning of what banking is all about can easily be lost.

It's really very simple.

It's our people using knowledge and imagination to help other people solve their money problems — big and small. That's what banking is for.

And the figures, whether they're deposits or loans, assets or liabilities, revenues or expenses, are only measures of our success in helping our customers meet their needs.

So in our advertisement this year, we've used a little more space to give you a few examples.

BCAA Reorganizes Itself To Meet New Regulations

VANCOUVER (CP) — A special meeting of the B.C. A u to m o bile Association (BCAA) gave nearly unanimous approval to a reorganization of the association's corporate structure urged by its directors.

The resolutions embodied corporate changes which the BCAA's directors said were necessary because of new tax laws, the provincial government auto insurance program and changing needs of the association's more than 235,000

A new corporation, BCAA Holdings Ltd., will be created as a wholly-owned subsidiary of the BCAA, and association directors will have power to invest the BCAA's funds in it as well as in securities per-mitted under law.

BCAA Holdings will own a Ltd. and will buy the BCAA insurance agency, all the associations real estate, and the B.C. Motorist Insurance Company — the name of which will be changed to the

91 Years Later . . . Navy Paid

WASHINGTON (AP) Ninety-one years after the United States Navy blew up their village, a group of Alaskan Indians has been awarded $90,000 in damages.

The award, approved unanimously by the Indian claims commission, went to the Tlingit and Haida Indians as successors to the Angoon Tribe of Alaskan Indians.

The settlement was for damage claims following the bombardment of an Indian village on Oct. 26, 1882, by a naval force led by Cmdr. E.

The government had said Merriman responded to re-ports the Indians had seized two hostages and some property of the Northwest Trading in retaliation for the death of a tribe member.

The shelling destroyed the Indians' village, their fishing camps and their canoes. The commission agreed to the $90,000 award in an out-of-court settlement between the government and the tribes but not the whole story.

In today's complex society we think there's a real need for people to learn more about money and how to handle it. So we devised an extensive money management consumer education program - theonly one of its kind in Canada.

For teachers, we've developed flexible teaching kits, including films, so they can incorporate family and personal money management into the class curriculum.

And for adults, we've devised two easy-to-read booklets — under the title "Your Money Matters" on how to make their money work for them. If you'd like to have them, just ask at any of our branches.

Most people need a number of banking services. So we put them all together. Our Royal

Certified Service. A one-price, convenient combination of the services you're most likely to use. The service goes into effect

January 15, 1974. The number of Canadians who have joined up already, leads us to believe that we've correctly identified a real need.

We believe that helping businesses prosper is one of the best ways of helping people. If a business is healthy, it benefits its shareholders, employees, customers, suppliers, neighbours - and all of us. It's well known we help businesses by lending them money. But we're helping in many other ways too, some of them quite new and ingenious. For example: just as Royal Certified Service is a combination of services for personal customers, so, for businesses, we're "tailor-making" packages of services to meet particular clients' specific needs. For many, many kinds of businesses and institutions, our Corporate Services Management and Automated Customer Services programs mean unique service combinations specially designed to help improve their efficiency and thus help.

Alarge part of meeting people's needs, especially those of businessmen, is our ability to help them operate internationally. So we've done just that, by operating in many countries and developing real depth of experience in international banking. Indeed, each year a larger part of our business, and our earnings, is in currencies other than Canadian. A particular emphasis this year has been on Europe, where the emergence of the Common Market, and Britain's entry into it, is so important. One of our responses to this has been establishment of a European Headquarters in London, staffed with senior executives capable - and authorized - to make the quick, on-the-spot decisions a fast-moving world requires.

n the surface, amateur sports don't seem to have much to do with banks - except that both represent ways of meeting widespread human needs. Our sponsorship of Canada's new Junior Olympics Program flows from just that link. We think it will help many of our branches develop an even better dialogue with young people through-program will help many young Canadians participate in amateur sports of all kinds. A few may even be'76 Olympic hopefuls. But, far more important, many more of our youth will be given opportunities they never had before to compete in sports.

Wartime Gloom Settles Over London

LONDON (CP) — A war-time gloom has settled over the heart of London at a time of year when store-fronts and illuminated decorations are usually blazing away to attract Christmas shoppers.

The famous neon signs of Piccadilly Circus are shrouded in darkness and Oxford Street, the capital's busiest shopping area, is a tunnel of blackness relieved only by overhead street lighting and traffic signals.

In other towns, too, Satur-In other towns, too, Saturday shopping crowds are noticeably thinner in the pre-Christmas period. Stores appear closed without their garish display windows.

from cutbacks in Arab oil, energy resources are threatened by a month-old overtime ban by electrical engineers and a similar ban by the militant coal miners, who have declared their intention to smash stage 3 of the government's pay policy.

The engineers' ban in par-ticular has the country on what the electricity board calls a "knifedge" over possible power cuts but so far only small voltage reductions have been necessary. It was to combat this situa-

Several schools have closed temporarily temporarily because classrooms are too cold. The House of Commons has reduced heat to 65 from 68 de-grees, causing one opposition Labor MP to complain he was "bloody frozen" even in his overcoat.

So far, the oil shortage has made little impact on the British way of life, although as a government precaution, gasoline ration books are to

Trade Minister Peter

Go orange to the Orient and enjoy a sweet slice of life.

If you're thinking of flying to the Orient, think beautifully big.

Think SuperOrange.

CP Air's new orange 747.

SuperOrange service promises you everything the name implies.

You'll relax in spacious comfort, surrounded by the color and mood of five exciting continents.

Upstairs, our first class lounge with its authentic decor, reflects the opulence of Canadian Pacific's golden era of railroading at the turn of the century.

Our well-trained, multi-lingual flight attendants will serve you international cuisine twice during the flight on beautiful china and glass.

There's a wide selection of fine wines available. Movies. Stereo. (All at a nominal cost.)

CP Air's SuperOrange service offers the only non-stop 747 flight from Vancouver to Tokyo, then on to Hong Kong. Starting Dec. 16th. (Subject to Gov't. approval.)

Then, before you know it, you'll be at your destination, where you'll be met by a lot of efficient people to help you on your way.

If you're there on business, we can put you in touch with a Trade Commissioner. Even a bilingual secretary.

Or if you're there to enjoy one of our beautiful vacation packages, no matter where you go, we'll be as near as the phone.

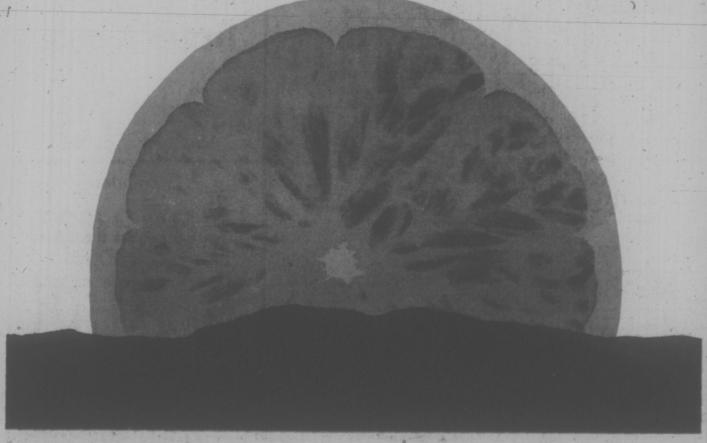

CP Air also offers an easy time-payment plan. Plus the fastest, most convenient service to the Orient from anywhere in Canada.

(In fact, we're the only Canadian flag carrier offering service across Canada and on to the Orient. Which is a nice way of finding out if our Executive Jet service in Canada really deserves its fame.)

So call CP Air. Or your travel agent. We'd like to make your trip to the Orient just a little bit sweeter.

They Fish 'Fish-Less' Bowker

Plans for a mini park, created on a three-acre waste-land off Browning, between McRae and Knight, will probably be aired at a public meeting in Saanich early in 1974.

Parks committee chairman Alan Newberry said Wednes-day the area is a Huckleberry Finn-type of playground where children play and try to fish the "fish-less" Bowker

Newberry said the intention is to create a mini park that would not destroy any of the children's fun.

Two alternative designs are being prepared by Saanich's planning staff. These will probably be debated by Shel-bourne residents at a public

One plan is to culvert Bowker Creek, producing a conventional waterless park.

The other is to waterscape and landscaape the area into a sort of miniature Beacon Hill Park, complete with bridges, trails, children's play areas and park furniture.

Maintaining water level of the creek at a maximum depth of 18 inches and widening it to 20 feet would ensure safety and culverts at either end of the park could be blocked off.

BCAA Calling for More Roads

The B.C. Automobile Association, in a brief to the provincial cabinet today, called for more roads for more cars.

"Highways are vitat to the continued prosperity of our province." cabinet ministers were told by the BCAA delegation headed by president F. R. Paxton.

R. Paxton.
The organization, which has some 233,000 members, wants:
— a new highway from the Lower Mainland to the Interior via Squamish and Lillooet;
— a third crossing of Burrard Inlet;
— onening to the public of

- opening to the public of all inactive logging roads.

The brief suggested criticism of the government's policy emphasizing rapid transit and said it "does not share the belief that mass transportation is the papages for all tation is the panacea for all urban transport needs."

The association claimed "the most feasibble method of providing mass transport within the metropolitan areas of the province is by bus transport, with fixed rail systems only becoming desirable when population densities in-crease."

A number of safety im-provements were called for, including the creation of new testing stations at Prince George and Kamloops, re-placement of hazardous light-ing on the Fraser Canyon highway and better posting of freeway speed limits.

The association urged the government to enact legisla-tion requiring all occupants of motor vehicles to use safety

A province-wide program was called for "to convince persons who had been convicted of driving while intoxicated of the seriousness of their action." Such an-education program has been pioneared in gram has been pioneered in Phoenix, Arizona.

Safety education related to motor vehicles should be included in school curricula from kindergarten to grade 12, the brief said.

"This program would be an all-enveloping one including pedestrian, bicycle and automobile safety with driver education being included from Grade 10 onwards."

The association 'has always believed that the addition of special truck ferries between Horseshoe Bay and not between Horsesnoe Bay and Nanaimo, and Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay, would do much to relieve congestion during summer months" the cabinet was told. The government was urged to consider building such ferries "in addi-

Hughes of Windsor, N.S., suggested Switzer get together with the set-makers and the federal communications department, which regulates the quality of Set manufacturers, through the Electronics Industries Association of Canada objected to the new system Tuesday. A major argument was that it would disrupt the engineering of cable customers' sets.

Switzer replied that the cable firm had been forced into the advanced system through CRTC pressure to expand cable coverage beyond the standard 12-channel limit, cutting down the anticipated 10-year lifetime of the present

"We eflt impelled to experi-ment with HRC before aug-menting the number of channels," he said. The St. Catharines experiment has been on since August.

The current problems arise, he said, because of "me-diocre" transmitters, cable systems and receivers say nothing about the pro-

However, he said that in St. Catharines all but about 300 of 14,000 subscribers had been able to get HRC cable by fine tuning on the dial. The re-mainder had been provided with set-top converters. In no cases had the insides of sets been tampered with.

But in general, Switzer said, problems of the public with cable reception stem from the "penny-pinching attitude" of manufacturers in compromising between cost and quality.
The standards had been set entirely by what people would pay. For another $50, manufacturers could produce a set with multi-channel capacity

Panasonic presents a see-through clock radio for your penthouse.

And a Take'n Tape for the kids' treehouse.

Wherever you live. And wherever you're going. Panasonic keeps coming up with sound ideas.

Take the Clear Dial (model RC-6500C). Nobody else makes anything quite like it. The unique design of the illuminated dials makes the station indicator and hands of the clock look like they're floating in mid-air. It will awaken you to music or a cheery "chirp." A nice way to start your day. And with FM and AM, too, you can keep it that way.

Our Crazy Color Take 'n Tape (RQ-711S) might have been made for a treehouse. It swings from AC current to batteries, party music-maker to cassette recorder. And its ultra-sensitive built-in mike picks up sound from any direction,

A perfect combination of beauty and performance. That's how we describe The Ridgefield (RE-6513C). An FM/AM table radio with easy to read slide-rule tuning. One look and need we say more?

For serious clock-watchers and good listening. The Ashburn (RC-6253C) is the automatic choice. Its contoured styling covers up a maze of circuitry that brings both FM and AM to your ears. A music or buzz alarm. And a full-feature 24-hour digital clock among a host of other ingenious ideas. All wrapped up in an attractive walnut or metallic silver finished cabinet. Or you can buy The Atwood (RC-I103C). A colorful and compact AM digital clock radio.

Adventurous types and sleepy heads are equally at home with The Altadena (RQ-432S). A lightweight cassette recorder and FM/AM radio with an Auto-Sleep switch. Very porta-ble and very practical because it can be set to shut itself-off completely if you think the music might lull you into the land of dreams. And it works 3 ways. At home, on batteries and with an optional car/boat adaptor.

Just as adaptable is The Abingdon (RQ-309S). For a truly portable cassette recorder with built-in condenser mike, its lightness and shape make a lot of sense.

Panasonic has a host of good things going for you. Your dealer can show you a lot more than we can here.

School Merge Study

A special committee has been set up to study problems arising from the amalgamation last June of Elizabeth Fisher junior secondary and Belmont senior secondary schools.

The amalgamated Belmont-Fisher school on Jacklin Rd. has been criticized by parents, students and teachers since it opened in September. The committee will consist of Sooke school-board trus-tees Isabelle Reader and H. K. Doniecki, Belmont-Fisher principal John Holt, two teachers and two Sooke district ad-

It will make its first report at the second Sooke board meeting in January.

The board created the committee at its meeting Tuesday after receiving a report from a committee of Belmont-Fisher

Central recommendation of the two-page report was that a thorough study of the amalgamation be made.

The school's 86 teachers feel that the committee to study the amalgamation should have happened a year ago before any board decision was taken, said Jim London, a teacher at the school who is president of Sooke Teachers' Association

The school board says the sudden resignation last spring of Belmont principal Wally Russell didn't leave them enough time to find another principal, so they solved the problem by amalgamating the schools.

The result is a school with 1,657 students. The result is a school with 1,657 students.

Low student morale and, to a lesser degree, poor teacher morale is the central problem at the school, said London. One indication of this is a rise this fall in the truancy rate for senior secondary students, he added.

School principal Holt said Wednesday he welcomes the formation of the committee.

He said the amalgamation has advantages and disadvantages that must be looked at, but agreed that "a lot of parents, staff and students are concerned."

Holt said the school is functioning and student activities are being held despite any problems.

Significant increases were forecast for debt charges related to the district's expanding sewerage disposal system.

The budget will be considered by the regional board at a meeting Dec. 12.

The provisional budget allows for an expenditure of $3,251,689 in 1974 compared with $2,532,196 in 1973 and a "probable actual" expenditure in 1973 of $2,574,428.

Debt service for the Municipal Finance Authority is increased to $348,604 from $237,457 while sewer debts to both the author-

HOUSING BUILDING COSTS UP

WIR THE THE PARTY OF THE PARTY

OTTAWA (CP) — The cost of building a house in Canada has risen 10.6 per cent over the last year, with the the last year, with the steepest increases in the At-lantic provinces, Statistics Canada reported Wednesday.

The national increase included an 11-per-cent rise in the cost of materials and a 9.7-per-cent rise in labor costs, it added.

In the Atlantic provinces, over-all residential construction prices rose 13.5 per cent, including a 14.2-per-cent rise for labor and 13.1 per cent for Quebec's home construc-tion prices rose 9.9 per cent, 11 per cent for labor and 9.2 per cent for materials. Ontario costs were up 11.2 per cent, with materials rising 12.2 per cent and labor 9.4 per cent.

In the Prairie provinces, the over-all increase was 10.4 per cent. That included 10.7 per cent for labor and 10.3 per cent for materials.

British Columbia's total increase was 7.9 per cent, with materials up 9.6 and labor up five per cent, the report said.

$50 Bonus Attacked

TORONTO (CP) - Ontario's two opposition parties voted Wednesday against second reading of a bill to provide about 350,000 old-age pensioners with an annual $50 bonus to combat rises in the cost of living.

However, the Progressive Conservative government used its majority to beat back the opposition by a vote of Baetz was commenting on a brief by the National Council of Welfare on the federal working paper on social secu-rity, made public last April.

The welfare council is a federally-appointed advisory body including welfare rights and poor people's represent-atives and voluntary agency workers.

In its brief, released Wednesday, the welfare council said that income tax deductions for children amount to an exact family allowance ular family allowance pay rich continued to benefit more than the poor, the brief said.

Baetz said the income tax deduction proposal was rejected last year for administrative reasons only. But he expected it would be accepted "in the next couple of years.

Bobcats

It's a lot of cat for a little scratch.

the name, economy's the game!

It's a little gasser

Our new little Bobcat is a frisky little critter with a whole lot of class. It's downright good looking on the outside, roomy and stylish on the inside and makes a little gas go a long way.

Economy with a pedigree

While our little Bobcat is a new arrival in your town, it comes from a very good family. It's not just a Bobcat, it's a Mercury Bobcat. With Mercury dealers all across Canada standing behind it.

A spunky little critter

Bobcat's spunky 2000 cc engine is standard. For even more get-up-and go there's an optional 2.3 litre OHC engine. Either way, combined with the four-speed floor-mounted transmission, Bobcat's engine puts punch in its economy. An optional, automatic transmission is also available.

A little car that goes like the Bobcat has to have the same cat-quick stopping power, so Bobcat comes with fade-resisting front disc brakes, standard.

A comfortable feeling

Bobcat's a roomy little critter on the inside. With contoured front bucket seats that are thickly padded for comfort. Plush nylon looppile carpeting. And when it comes to both front and back leg room-you'll really be surprised!

While the steel side door guard rails, double-panelled roof and energy absorbing bumpers may not do much for your comfort, it's sure comforting to know they're there.

Three little Bobcats

With Bobcat, economy comes to you three ways. You have a choice between a 2-door sedan, a nifty little 3-door Runabout and a bighauling little station wagon.

The little economy with a lot of class

Look the Bobcats over at your Mercury dealer, you'll find that with all their standard features you get a lot of cat for a little scratch. But you'll also find there's a wide selection of snappy options you can add (like the roof rack and Villager options shown on the wagon here, the Sports Accent Group on the Runabout, or the vinyl roof and Accent Group options shown on the 2-door sedan), to make your Bobcat one of the classiest, little critters in town.

Skylab Problem Solved

HOUSTON (AP). — With a spaceship control problem solved, Skylab 3's astronauts have received the go-ahead to biting station Friday.

"Glad to hear that," com-mander Gerald Carr said Edward Gibson were told when informed late Wednes-"We figured you guys would work out something.

Manoeuvres are required for most earth-resources sur-veys, viewing the comet Kostar fields. Instead, the spacemen Wednesday performed medical and solar studies which do not require reorienting the craft's position.

SOLUTION REACHED

Experts worked with computers and mathematical models to reach a solution. After evaluating the results, Skylab program director William Schneider gave the goahead to resume the manoeuvres.

Schneider said the problem was traced back to the loss last Friday through a bearing failure of one of the lab's main attitude-central gyroscopes.

The two remaining gyros can be overloaded much more quickly during manoeuvres. Then a network of small jet motors automatically takes over to hold the station steady or guide it to a new position, and that requires a lot of gas.

"It was a matter of learning to operate the vehicle efficiently with two command gyros so that we use as little gas as possible," Schneider

If the $2.5-million report, tabled in the Commons Nov. 6, was the best anywhere, then in a sense the Americans' remarks drove home the lack of nutritional values throughout the Western world.
The 184-page report, first volume of a so-called Nutrition Canada study, is inconclusive. It raises more questions than it provides answers and health experts don't know what to make of some of its findings. It doesn't shower parents with solutions to their chil-

Subsequent volumes may provide more compelling reading for the consumer. Officials say the first volume is only the skeleton of what will be published during the next few days as more data are sorted and compiled.

The report says more imagination and ingenuity are needed to spread knowledge a collection of charts, references and technical data that few laymen are likely to read.

The Canadian Council on Social Development says aspects of the reports are vague, while the National Anti-Proverty Organizaton says out by not recommending that ting "prizes" and other comeons in their cereal boxes.

No culprits are identified as tein and vitamin deficiencies found in some of the survey group of 25,000. Contrary to not take snack and convenience food makers to task for low-nutrition products.

The survey just didn't prove these foods to be harmful, said Lalonde. He had no immediate plans for action except to meet with his provincial counterparts in a few months to discuss the report.

Dr. Peter Hahn of the University of British Columbia medical faculty said that while knowledge of nutrition is extensive, man can feed rats and even domestic animals more scientifically than himself.

Nutritional goals in man have never been defined, he said. Did he want longer life, greater mental ability, better health or what?

Another weakness seen in the Nutrition Canada report is that it provides no grounds for comparisons.

Nor is it possible to compare the health of Canadians of years ago with today, said Lalonde. There had been no earlier studies of Nutrition Canada's magnitude. Health experts admitted be-

Health experts admitted be-fuddlement at three findings of the report. They couldn't explain why iron deficiency is so widespread, why large numbers of people show low levels of the B vitamin, folio acid, and why moderate thy-roid gland enlargement is prevalent. Further studies are planned.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a problem like mine in your column, Would you be-lieve my husband is 31 and he still wets himself? Not only in bed, but while he's awake.

Last evening, after supper he went next door to talk to a neighbor and have a few beers, and when he came home (about 9:30 p.m.) his pants were soaked! I asked him how that happened, and he said he didn't know. (He AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): some of your fondest wishes can be "nsformer in" or ealities. Rife ide to opportunity for success. DEAR ABBY: I'm another one who never thought I'd be writing you, but here I am. I am a 21-year-old college senior. I am still a virgin and have vowed to God and myself that I will remain one until I married.

"The successful application of voluntary conservation measures to motor gasoline could result in savings of anywhere from 15 to 20 per cent,' says one document.

"A 20-per-cent saving would result in a saving to the nation of up to 3.75 million gallons of gasoline per day . . ."

"Maximum savings will result if steps are taken to increase the efficiency of heating equipment to decrease the heat lost from buildings."

On driving habits, there are these suggestions: -Reduce average highway

Wanted: Storage for N-Waste

OTTAWA - A study on the best method and location for the disposal of radio active wastes is being made by the White Shell nuclear research establishment in Manitoba under the direction of Atomic

R. C. Hayden, chief public relations officer for Atomic Energy of Canada was per-plexed by a press report out of London, England, quoting J. L. Gray president of Atomic Energy as stating that a "nuclear mausoleum" to store radio active atomic wastes for decades would be built soon in Manitoba.

Hayden said there must ave been "a misunderstanding" because no such decisions have yet been made. He checked with the senior officials of Atomic Energy of Canada and was informed that the study is still in dations as to the type of storage facility that should be built or its location.

Joins UN Force

ACCRA (Reuter) - Ghana has agreed to send a 600-man military contingent to the Middle East to serve in the United Nations peacekeeping force, the government announced Thursday. An advance party will leave for Cairo Dec. 15, and the main body will follow Dec. 28 in an aircraft supplied by the UN.

said Hayden.

He explained that the installation would be "very small." It would be capable of housing about 100 "fuel bun-dles." The spent fuel would be encased in a metal, zirconium alloy. It in turn would be sur-rounded by lead. The bundles would measure only inches in length by three and one half inches in diameter. They weigh about 65 pounds, said Hayden.

The "spent fuel" which comes out of the nuclear reac-tor after it has been used is stored because it contains plu-tonium which in 10 years or more may be utilized.

Natural Gas Pact Irrelevant

ish Columbia Energy Com-mission chairman Andrew mission chairman Andrew Thompson said the once-controversial agreement between Westcoast Tramsmission Co. Ltd. and its single United States customer is now basically irrelevant to B.C.

The agreement, between Westcoast and El Pasó Natural Gas Co., of El Paso, Texas, received conditional approval last week from the U.S. Federal Power Commis-

Thompson said the provincial government's restructur-ing of B.C.'s natural gas in-dustry earlier this month, including an 81 per cent whole-sale gas price hike, emasculated the agreement's controversial parts.

The agreement, technically three amendments to an exist-ing contract, provided a "trackin?" clause allowing Westcoast to pass on to El-Paso its share of increases in the wellhead price of gas, an $80 million exploration fund to find additional reserves, a temporary surcharge at the border of 1.5 cents per thousand cubic feet to be made permanent if future exports are granted, and Westcoast's promise to apply its "best efforts" in obtaining Canadian regulatory approval for a 50-per-cent increase in export the tracking clause.

The tracking clause permitted an immediate 3.3-cent hike but was wiped out by the industry restructuring which included a 28 cent hike included a 26-cent hike.

Westcoast president Ed Phillips disagreed, saying the exploration fund and the tracking clause may be ap-plied in B.C. in the future.

These two factors keep Westcoast's interest in the agreement in spite of its fail-ure to raise the new higher export price, he said. Robert Bailey, president, gas supply and re-serves, of Northwest Pipeline Corporation, of Salt Lake City, described the agreement as "most welcome" and said it will "stimulate the development of new reserves of gas of the border.'

Northwest Pipeline will fall heir to the agreement by Dec. 31 at the latest when El Paso. under court order, divests its Northwest Pipeline holdings.

'Forgotten Party' Makes New Start

RICHMOND (CP) a — The luckless British Columbia Conservative Party, which hasn't formed a provincial government since 1933, will name a new leader Saturday to succeed Derril Warren, who unified the party but br. Scott Wallace, 44, one of the two Tory MLAs, is expected to be named leader by acvention which starts Friday night. Nominations close at midnight tonight.

The fiery, strong-minded physician, born and educated in Scotland, joined the party in 1972 and became the first

Tory MLA since 1954.

Wallace, first elected as Social Credit member for Oak Bay in the 1969 provincial election, bolted from Social Credit ranks in August, 1971. He cited the Social Credit government's medical policies as the last straw and com-plained that backbench MLAs did not play an active role in forming government policy.

But he didn't immediately join the Conservative Party, then led by Vancouver economist John de Wolf, because of the "highly-publicized in-fightthe 'highly-publicized in-fight-ing' in the party hierarchy.

Wallace joined after Warren ousted de Wolf, saying "it's a whole new ball game now. Warren, a 33-year-old law-yer, was an unsuccessful can-didate in North Vancouver-Seymour in the 1972 general

He then moved his family to Kelowna and contested the Sept. 7 Okanagan South byelection to fill the seat vacated by former premier W. A. C.

The byelection was won by the former premier's son. Wallace, who said he would abandon his medical practice and devote his first year in of-

Taking Rain Trip Pays Off in Green

Today every caller has greeted me with "what terrible weather!" True, it's raining; has been all day, but there is no wind, the temperature is well into the 40's, and no snow is even mixed with the rain.

What better for the end of November on the coast of British Columbia?

A day of steady rain at this time is welcomed by serious gardeners for it often highlights problem spots that could result in plant losses later in the winter.

In a raincoat—tood to keep the wet off the neck—and rubber boots, a walk around the garden provides a pleasant

After all, hundreds walk the cliffs and seafront even in a gale, so what is wrong with a saunter around the garden?

This is no aimless wandering, for it has a purpose, which is to find out first-hand how the plants fare; how they are dealing with the prevailing weather.

The gardener first looks for puddles: not to wade in, but to determine whether present drainage is suitable. The spots are marked where water appears to collect and checked again next day. If the water persists, something has to be

The usual unexpected surprise turns up, such as one per-fect rose on a June flowering briar, far deeper in color than those opened by summer sun.

A sweet perfume attracts the wandering gardener, violets are blooming plentifully, and yes, there is the white Daphne mezereum already, blooming ahead of the purple type.

Against the house, yellow winter jasmine opens buds, but still I cannot get a trace of perfume from it.

A heavy drip is noted from the eaves. Further investigating reveals more drips all around the house. One place is right over the camellia, another above the Christmas-rose and yet another pouring water down the clematis stems. If the walk accomplishes nothing more, at least three precious plants will be saved. Those eaves will be fixed as soon as the rain eases.

It is also obvious the winter vegetable garden is the other side of a miniature morass. If those leeks, cabbage and Jerusalem artichokes are to be used for winter meals some kind of clean, firm path must be devised. It may be a plank, but something is needed there right away.

Then to check the new shrubs and trees planted two or three weeks ago. One rhododendron is already leaning sideways. Must have been the recent gale. That must be staked or all its fine new roots will be torn.

Since the gale rocked the rhodo, what happened to the winter cabbage and Brussels sprouts? They're leaning every way. And all the cabbage family must be tight in the soil for good solid heads and buttons. There's another job. Some dry compost on the soil. Then stamp the soil tight around each stem. Maybe a stake to tie the stems so they cannot move again.

Folks who never go into the garden when it rains, or blows, or snows, sure miss a lot-in more ways than one

Opening lead: Ace of V.

The fact that South failed to employ the Blackwood Slam convention when it properly should have been employed, is immaterial to the discussion. Misbids such as South's happen frequently.

When this deal arose many years ago, East played the deuce of hearts on West's opening lead of the ace. West was now at a loss as to what to play next. He chose to shift declarer waltzed in with his centract, discarding his losing jack of diamonds on dummy's

Had this deal arisen recently, the contract would have been defeated, for the defenders would have had the "suit-preference-signal" at their disposal. This signal is used when a defender wishes his partner to switch suits; and the signal eliminates the guess as to which of two suits partner should play.

The choice is between only two suits because the trump suit and the suit being led are eliminated from consider-ation, leaving the leader with a choice of the two remaining suits. The following is the preference signal.

Whenever partner plays an unnecessarily high card that is obviously not a come-on-in-this-suit" signal, it commands the leader to return the higher of the two self-evident suits; whenever partner plays very low card that is obviously not a "no-interest-in-this-suit" signal, that card asks partner to shift to the lower of the two self-evident suits. If partner has no interest in either of the two selfevident suits, he will play some intermediate card in the suit being led.

And so, in the actual deal, East would have played the heart queen on West's opening lead of the heart ace. Since it would have been obvious to West that East couldn't possibly desire a continuation of hearts, West would now shift to a diamond, the higher-ranking of the two remaining suits (diamonds versus clubs). As is evident, East's ace would now take the setting trick.

A sketchy plan to make Point Roberts part of an interna-tional park drew fire Wednesday at a meeting between state and northwest Washington officials.

County commissioners from Whatcom County said they strongly opposed the plan offered recently by the Point Roberts board to the International Joint Commission. Other officials said the affected counties and cities were not adequately consulted be-fore the plan was drafted.

The IJC will hold public hearings on the plan in Belingham Monday, at Point Rob-erts Tuesday, in Vancouver, B.C., the next day, Victoria Dec 6 and Seattle Dec. 7. The park plan — which would need ratification by which U.S. Congress and Canadian Add new kitchen convenience...

Moffat 30" range has a self-cleaning oven

Oven cleaning has never been a pleasant chore . . . scrubbing and scraping all that baked-on grease and grime. Now Moffat's self-cleaning oven frees you from that messy drudgery. You just set the "self-clean" controls. Then come back in a couple of hours to a sparkling clean oven. All you have to do is remove a small bit of ash from the oven floor. It couldn't be much easier. And convenience doesn't stop there. This Moffat has many other features you'll enjoy, such as: a rotisserie for year 'round barbecue treats, automatic pre-heat oven, variable broil control, recessed oven light, lift-off door with oven window, removable oven racks and guides, broil pan and roomy slide-out storage drawer. And up top there are two 8" and two 6" lift-out elements, indicator lights, infinite heat switches, recessed cooktop to prevent spillovers, removable drip bowls, automatic clock with minute-minder, timed applance outlet, full-width fluorescent light and deluxe porcelain backguard with brown and beige trim. We're sure you'll agree that this thoroughly modern Moffat is a great range and a great buy now at Eaton's. Avocado or gold color, extra 10.00.

Air -Waves For B.C.

Communications Robert Strachan said today B.C. believes provincial authorities should have control over communications policy, development and services.

Federal agencies have not proved appropriate for the job, Strachan said, adding "a heritage of federal error in B.C. will cost millions of dol-lars to correct."

'Share Consequences' Double-Barrelled WILLIAMS DEFENDS PCB If Strike-Victoria Press

320 employees, Victoria Press Ltd. vice-president Stuart Underhill said today if a strike threat by 30 jressmen is re-alized and publication is inter-rupted "all will have to share the economic consequences."

Victoria Press publishes the Victoria Times and The Daily Colonist.

Underhill said: "Management still hopes that a reasonable settlement will be reached and we shall continue working toward that end. We want to ensure that Victoria will go on being served by its two fine newspapers and not forced into the situation of some other Canadian cities some larger than Victoria; like Edmonton, Hamilton and London - where daily publication is limited to one news-

Victoria Press has been negotiating since Oct. 22 with the Council of Unions, which bargains for the International Typographical Union (ITU), Printing Pressmen's Union (PPU), Mailers, Stereotypers and The Newspaper Guild (TNG).

The 30 pressmen have served strike notice and will be free to strike at midnight Friday when their contract, along with those of the other three craft unions, expires. The Guild contract expires Jan. 31, 1974.

Negotiations broke off Tues-day with the company presenting a package proposal and the council insisting that discussion of other matters be put aside until the question of job security in the face of technological change is settled. Further talks are scheduled for Friday.

Under the company's package proposals, Underhill said, the 160 Guild members in the editorial, advertising and business office were offered a 9.5 per cent salary increase as of Feb. 1 next year, when their present contract expires, and a further 8.48 per cent in

Mechanical unions were offered 59 cents an hour as of Dec. 1, a further 30 cents a year later and another 29 cents June 1, 1975. This would bring a journeyman printer to $7.40 an hour within two years.

On job security, for printers, the company proposed that 96 "situation holders" be protected from loss of their jobs during the term of the new contract. Severance pay of $2,000 to $5,000 will be offered to these 96 if they wish

If 60 years and over and with 10 years entinuous service, employees will get an additional $1,000 to $3,000. Outside the 96 "situation holders," employees who lose their jobs through technological change will get up to $1,000 in moving costs plus company help in finding jobs

This new contract would add $500,000 to wage costs in the first year of the two-year

Semen Tracked To Trappe

TRAPPE, PA. (UPI) — Some $1 million in tull semen has been turned over to U.S. customs authorities after it was confiscated from a home in this Philadelphia suburb.

Some 40,000 units of the semen, frozen in nitrogen, was seized from the home of Jack Copway Miller, 43, a dealer in the substance, which is used to artifically inseminate cows.

Police said they went to Miller's home after learning of his arrest in Guelph, Ont. The semen was reported sto-len from the United Breeders Association of Guelph, some 60 miles west of Toronto

Canadian police said some of the semen was in Miller's possession when he was arrested. He has since been released in $125,000 bail.

Country Life Needs Lift

Times Staff

The good country life in Victoria's bedroom communities of Colwood, Langford and Metchosin is not good enough and must be supplemented by some basic social services.

Residents feel social services should be added or ex-panded to meet the needs of an area suffering through growing pains brought on by a 20 per cent increase in population over the past five years, according to a survey and study completed by the Community Council of Greater Victoria,

Residents of the three areas agreed on the need for an ex-tended care — out-patient hospital, a medical-dental centre, a health and social service centre with the capacity to undertake family-unit, coun-selling, mental health ser-vices for diagnostic and treatment purposes, a drug infor-mation and referral centre and day care centres through-

The majority of those people in the three areas who gave as their reason for moving to Colwood, Langford and Metchosin "escaping the impersonal city life", said they would use a regular bus system to go to Victoria for shopping and other services.

Recreation facilities such as tennis courts and a YW-YM-CA-type complex were often suggested by Langford and Colwood residents. The report said that the longer people had lived in the area, the less likely they were to support parks as a need for the com-

The Community Council project was funded by a grant from the provincial depart-ment of human resources. Money Go-Ahead Order Fraud

Five counterfeit personal money orders passed here Nov. 15 may be part of a nation-wide operation.

The money orders, drawn on a Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch in St. Lambert, P.Q., for amounts varying between $210 and $240, have also shown up in Vanccuver, Winnipeg and To-ronto, a spokesman for the bank said in Vancouver today. All were cashed on the same day and at different branches.

A Victoria fraud squad spokesman said six of the bogus money orders, bearing the serial number R802840, have shown up here so far, cashed at Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branches at Douglas and Bay, Yates and Government, View and Douglas, the Mayfair Shopping Centre, Douglas and Cor-

A spokesman for the bank said "a couple of dozen" cases have been reported by Vancouver branches involving more than $5,000.

The spokesman said there were at least two operators working in Vancouver, One was described as a tall man with a French accent who used the name "Tront" in the spokesman said. "This was a co-ordinated effort en-gineered to strike our banks on the same day.'

Mine Trial Hits Snag

A trial involving Jordan River Mines Ltd. on four charges of violating fisheries and pollution regulations ran into a snag Wednesday.

The hearing ended in stale-mate with one of the counts being withdrawn and Judge William Ostler reserving judgment until today on the other three following a no-evidence notion by defence lawyer Irwin Nathanson.

Nathanson argued the charges were "duplicitious" meaning they referred to two separate incidents which the Crown had failed to show were part of a "continuous transaction."

Ostler said he needed time

to rule on this argument.
At the start prosecutor Robert Hutchison said the trial represented the first time in B.C. court history that federal and provincial charges had een contained in the same information.

"It's a case of co-operative federalism in action," he said.
The company, which operates an underground cop-per mine and mill at Jordan River, faced two counts of violating fisheries regulations -a federal statute-and two counts of violating the Pollu-tion Control Board regulations provincial law.

The charges stemmed from two reports of spills of wastes into the Jordan River - one on June 24, the other on June

An ambulance bay is includated in the building of the buil Strait of Juan de Fuca.

A second provincial charge was dropped. It stated the mine failed to comply with an alarm on the effluent disposal system. The permit asked the work be done by Oct. 15, but the charge had been laid with the other three on Aug. 17. Hutchison called six witnesses who testified about the singularity of the sing the circumstances of the break on the main line carrying mine tailings to the sea on June 24 and the resulting effect, both on that day and Fisheries officers said silt had been deposited in the river - in some cases as much as a foot deep - and a pollution biologist said the effect would be harmful to the fish food cycle.

A pollution control officer said the second spill — ob June 25 — occurred when tailings spilled over the banks of an emergency tailing pond which was being used until repairs were made on the main line.

Nathanson argued there had been no evidence there were fish in the river on the date of the spills, but was overruled by Ostler who said it "could be inferred-there was fish food in the stream that could be harmed."

Open Space Centre Passes Inspection

Open Space arts centre reopened today after fire inspectors approved repairs done to meet safety requirements for public use of the building, said director Gene Miller.

Miller said fire inspector Lt. Mike Heppel checked the building Wednesday and found faults in only three minor jobs. Those repairs were finished today. The top two floors of the converted warehouse at 510 Fort was closed Nov. 1 when a number of violations of the Fire Marshal's Office were discovered. "I hope the public floods the place," said Miller, adding the Open Space Craft Market, on the lower floor, has suffered badly since the top floors closed. The lower shops were not closed Nov. 1, he said.

The "Contem-Parts Festival" will continue tonight, said

Miller, with a concert of "contemporary serious music" by members of the Vancouver Symphony:

A Christmas craft fair and a photograph and drawing exhibition will also continue, he said.

Hospital Spending Extended

"I don't think we were being over-protective," says

"Parents are quite happy to share the good moments with their kids, like a birthday party. But as soon as something horrible comes along, like a visit to a hospital, then they chicken out and let the kids face it all on their own."

Arrangements for Franklin to accompany Simon into Victoria General were made by the doctor's nurse. Father stayed early Wednesday and was there when Simon came back.

The Capital regional hospital board Wednesday passed a resolution aimed at giving it more time to spend about $3 by ratepayers five years ago.

In October of 1968 ratepayers approved a $9.3 million referendum, with most of the money earmarked for additional extended-care hospital facilities.

At the request of the board the then health minister Ralph Loffmark subsequently authorized adding $3.4 million to the referendum total without ratepayer approval, clearing the way for the board to borrow $12.7 million to finance projects,
